

NEW CENTURY ENTERED UPON BY PICKERING

NEED OF MOTIVES FOR DIS-TRIBUTION OF FOOD
STRESSED

ABOUT 400 ATTEND

One hundred years of tribulation and triumph were marked by Pickering College staff, students, alumni and friends at a dinner in the college gymnasium on Saturday evening.

The four chief phases of the school's history are 1841 to 1889 as Friends' Boarding School, at West Lake, 1875 to 1905 as Pickering College, Friends' Seminary of Ontario, at Pickering, and 1908 to 1917 and 1927 to 1942 as Pickering College at Newmarket.

Samuel Rogers, K.C., Toronto, chairman of the board of management, who presided, welcomed the "old boys" and the new old boys who have graduated from the school since it reopened under Headmaster Joseph McCulley.

Greetings from the old boys' association were presented by Keith Robinson, from "the Middle East, Greece, Crete and the R.A.F. Port Albert, Ont., navigation school" by Flight-Lieut. C. D. (Bud) Richardson, Dr. L. W. Dales, mayor of Newmarket, Morgan Baker, M.L.A., Chas. W. Robb, Baker, M.L.A., Ward Corbridge, high school inspector, Ward Corbridge, president of the students, T. W. L. MacDermott, Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Headmasters' Association.

Messages read included one from Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Dr. Arthur G. Dendane, professor of history at Western University, London, reviewing the history of the school, told how Pickering had begun as a co-educational institution and suggested that by the time the next century had rolled around it might again have taken on a co-educational status.

Speaking on "Education and the Future," George C. Pickett, executive secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, Philadelphia, said that compared to Canada, he came from a poor country. "On the word of our people have never had adequate clothing and food and shelter. One-third of our people never see beef on their table. We could have it if we would let Argentina ship it in—we could have it at ten cents a pound."

"Bread is the cry of millions (in Europe)—will they be able to live through another winter?" Mr. Pickett said. "One-third of the world's population might well follow the lines of teaching at the West Lake Boarding School 100 years ago, when the students earned a good part of their board and tuition by working in and about the school and the school farm, an education of 'head and hand'."

But all of us recognize today that the real difficulty is not in ability to produce food," said Mr. Pickett. "The motives which prompt the circulation of those commodities are inadequate. Some have too little, some have plenty. Food, clothing, shelter, health, those simple necessities which have been denied so long, should be distributed so that we do not have a recurrence of the conditions through which we are now passing."

Mr. Pickett quoted a distinguished Englishman, Sir Wilfrid Lewis, Washington correspondent of the London Times, who had said that a chief cause of this war had been hunger. He told of 85,000 children in France which the American Friends Service Committee had been caring for but were now being forced to abandon. "He said that they would die if they had to face another winter, and 'they are only one-tenth of the (French) children who should be fed.'"

"I'm not a Quaker, but I'm very happy that Clarence Pickett picked out as at least one of the fundaments of good education that we must have an abiding faith in the value of every human soul," said Headmaster Joseph McCulley in an address abbreviated because of the lateness of the hour.

Mr. McCulley said there were nine old boys of the school "from whom we can receive no further message except that their sacrifice is given."

"We shall carry on into the next 100 years, and I hope that this school may in some small way contribute to the building of a better Canada," said Mr. McCulley. "Hope, not fear, is the creative principle in man's affairs."

The gymnasium had been artistically transformed into a banquet hall for the celebration. About 400 people sat down to dinner. Gordon Halliell, Clifford Poole, Elizabeth Heer, Alan Sawyer, Adolph Kozlowsky, Marie Jackson, Alice Bourke and members of the cast of the Gendallors contributed to the program of music and singing which interspersed the addresses.

Gwendolyn Williams was the piano accompanist for the singers.

RECTOR ADDRESSES SONS OF ENGLAND

The Sons of England, senior and junior branch, celebrated St. George's Day by entertaining wives and mothers at a banquet in the lodge hall on Monday evening.

Rev. G. H. Johnson, rector of St. Paul's church, gave a wonderful address on "St. George, Soldier and Martyr," and one of the junior members, Don. Cribar, delighted everyone with his cornet solos, playing appropriate selections for the different toasts, which were responded to by different members.

The toast to the boys in uniform from the home lodge, both overseas and in Canada, was greeted with "The Red, White and Blue," it being part of the initiation ceremony. Don. also favored with several other selections, which captivated his hearers.

The overwhelming applause which greeted Mr. Johnson when a vote of thanks was tendered him showed the appreciation of those present for his magnificent address.

SEES SOVIET SETTING PACE FOR VICTORY

VARSITY PROFESSOR EX-PLAINS RUSSIA'S MOVES
SINCE 1939

'WHAT CHINA LACKS'

"Russia was determined to stay out of this war so that she would have the balance of power and be able to cast the deciding vote as to the future of the world," Prof. R. M. Saunders, professor of European history at the University of Toronto, told the Lions club at the King George hotel on Tuesday evening. H. J. Luck introduced the speaker. President W. M. Cockburn was in the chair.

"Russia was suspicious of every other great power," Prof. Saunders said. "All other powers regarded Russia as a danger centre of revolution."

"In the 1930's Russia, having ended the duel between Stalin and Trotsky, entered into a policy of national development rather than world revolution."

"Exclusion of Russia from the conference table at Munich renewed all Russia's suspicions. She became convinced that Britain and France were trying to engineer a war between Russia and Germany."

"What at the end of August, 1939, it was announced that Russia and Germany had signed a non-aggression pact the world was astounded. The agreement was made by Germany because Germany did not want to fight a war on two fronts. Russia was determined to stay out of war but was convinced that Germany was the most likely to attack her. Russia took advantage of German invasion of Poland to invade Poland, make war on Finland and to take over the Baltic states, to deepen her defences."

"The Nazi attack on Russia came as a greater surprise than the Russian-German pact. Germany had gone down into the Balkans to save Italy, and in so doing was forced to fight Yugoslavia. Germany overran Greece, defeated Britain in Greece and Crete. Germany was driving Britain back in Libya. Things looked good for Germany. Germany conceived the idea of moving down on Suez and cutting the British life-line. Hitler planned the Mesopotamia and Syria uprisings. Britain nipped this in the bud. Hitler did not keep his armies idle. He had promised victories and so he turned on Russia. For the first time Germany has turned on the Slavs whenever she was strong enough."

"In Mein Kampf Hitler had said that if Germany could get Russia's resources she would be the dominant world power. The Russians believed Mein Kampf and prepared for it. The Russians hadn't done this in the Finnish war. The Germans could make a land attack on Russia. Britain couldn't get help to Russia."

"Germany wasn't afraid of Britain opening an air front on Germany because the Germans realized that their air attacks on Britain hadn't had real effect. Germany's industries were spread out more than Britain's. Also Germany could cry that she was saving the world from communism. She believed that by the beginning of last winter German forces would be standing on the Volga."

"Hitler made a gross over-estimate of Russian power. Surprises began and continued. As Germany smashed thousands of tanks and planes, thousands of the Russians seemed to know how to fight the Germans better than other countries. There was soon staff work ideas of the purges that had taken place in the army."

"There was a lack of fifth columnists among the Russians. The Russians were unified. The scorched earth policy was another surprise."

"It seemed that Russia couldn't endure. Russia showed not only endurance but other countries. Russian morale has been astonishing. It's made up of love of the soil. I have not only one white Russian in this country who would not fight for Russia, but matter how they hate the Soviet."

"But also if the Russian government hadn't given them something more than they had in 1917 the Russians wouldn't have been so ready to fight. They are satisfied with what the Soviet has tried to do."

"But Russia also has mechanical force—what China lacks—but not from us. British-American equipment have been pouring into Russia but not nearly in the quantities Russia has been using. Russia's mechanical progress has been amazing."

"The Russians have thrown back the Germans as other countries have not done, except Britain on the sea."

"Gentlemen, I think Russia is setting the pace for victory."

Kitties Prefer Hen To Mrs. Pussy As Mother

Four kittens on the farm of Arthur Scott, Vandonr, have found a hen for a foster mother. The hen, while it will not set on eggs, looks after the kittens and they follow her all over the farm. The only time the kittens go near the mother cat is at meal time. After meals the kittens promptly go back to the hen and sleep under the hen at night.

WILL TAG FOR BLIND

A tag day will be held in Newmarket on Saturday in aid of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. The convener of the Newmarket committee is Mrs. F. H. Robinson.

"MAY DAY" DANCE IS LAST OF SEASON

The last Red Cross dance of the season will take place in the high school auditorium to-morrow evening, "May Day." The auditorium will be gaily decorated with spring flowers.

Art. West and his orchestra will supply the rhythm for the dancers.

The proceeds of the dance are in aid of Red Cross work.

Public Men See Pickering Promoting Quiet Changes

SEE SOCIAL CHANGES
COMING AND PICKERING
PLAYING PART

Eight years ago, when M. F. Hepburn, now premier of Ontario, was campaigning for office and "swinging to the left," two men offered themselves as candidates to the Liberal convention for North York. They were Morgan Baker of Whitechurch township and Dr. L. W. Dales of Newmarket, and both gave militant leftist addresses.

That both are still socially conscious, though the depression has passed away, was evident from the addresses which they made at Pickering College centennial dinner on Saturday evening. Mr. Baker as member of the legislature and Dr. Dales as mayor of Newmarket.

"It is a signal honor to represent Newmarket on this important occasion," said Dr. Dales. "It is only 87 years since the incorporation of Newmarket as a village, and we are only 61 years old as a town. So we look up at you with veneration."

"We congratulate ourselves that Pickering College chose Newmarket. We are proud of the fine sportsmanship and gentlemanly qualities of your students in our homes and on our streets."

"You have contributed to a hundred years of empire building (it is really that), to a high and dignified academic standing and to a continuous training of youth."

"And it is my hope that this school and other similar institutions may become the first line of defence against the destructive selfishness of this foolish, ruinous old world, and that in this age-old conflict you may establish something akin to immortality, something enduring and permanent, something that shall not pass away."

"I'm glad that Mr. McCulley was one man in the province who tried to do something real, to let the boys think for themselves and help them to find a place," said Mr. Baker. "I'm confident that the example set here is spreading out over the province."

"There are going to be big changes after this war. Whether we like it or not, let's face it. Let's educate people to let it happen in an orderly quiet way. That is what will happen if we have more schools like Pickering College."

"ONE MORE DOSE . . ."

"Last fall there was a general toxoid clinic held in all the different schools of the town and without undue persuasion there were about 150 children toxoided," Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H., told The Era this week.

"As there were not many pre-school children done, and because many missed one or more doses, another clinic was put on this spring, and, as usual, quite a number were prevented from completing the course, some on account of unfavorable weather, sickness or absence from town, so that it is necessary to hold another clinic next Monday, May 4, from 4 to 5 p.m., at the office of the M.O.H., where all cases will be given the final dose."

"At the first of these clinics there were 85 children done and the most of them were pre-school age. When they all have completed the course, they will be immune from what is acknowledged to be the most dreaded disease of childhood, and that immunity is supposed to last for a period of five years. Another reinforcing dose is recommended for the pre-school child when she starts school and this will probably carry her through for life."

"Then if all you youngsters who have missed a dose will kindly be at the office of the M.O.H. any time between 4 and 5 Monday afternoon, the doctor and the nurse will take care of you."

Chas. E. Cunningham, Newmarket and district representative of the Canada Life Assurance Co., recently attended a seminar at the head office.

HARDBALL PROMISED
Hardballers met on Tuesday evening to discuss the hardball prospects for this season. Some progress was made. Another meeting will be held soon when officers will be named and a schedule discussed.

SIR WILLIAM SPEAKS

"I do not know any institution, not excepting the University of Toronto, that I take greater interest in than I do in Pickering College," Sir William Mulock declared at the Pickering College centenary dinner on Saturday evening.

Sir William, who is 98 years old, said that he had been at a Free French gathering until 1.30 a.m. the previous night. The assembly was even more surprised when, in the course of his address, Sir William had occasion to look at some notes. He took off his glasses. He can't read with his glasses on.

"When I retired from the bench I was anxious to satisfy myself whether I still had any memory," Sir William said. As a test he undertook to memorize Gray's Elegy written in a Country Churchyard as he drove by motor-car back and forth from his house to a fishing place in Muskoka. The trip took three hours and Sir William said: "I have not any three hours to waste in my life."

Sir William learned the Elegy of 32 verses, four lines to a verse, eight words to a line, or 1,000 words in all, in "three days coming and going," or 18 hours. "No exploit," said Sir William, "but I found my memory was as good as it ever was, and it was never particularly good."

DRAMA, SONG, DANCE AID RED CROSS FUNDS

Enchanting music and dancing and an entertaining one-act comedy comprised the interesting program presented by the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Anglican church, at the town hall on Thursday and Friday evenings.

The entertainment, under the able direction of Mrs. A. N. Belugin, attracted good crowds on both evenings. Half the proceeds of $155 went to the Newmarket Red Cross Society.

The master of ceremonies for the concert was Rev. G. H. Johnson of St. Paul's church, introduced by A. N. Belugin. The program opened with "O Canada" by Jean Davis, whose lovely voice is always enjoyed by Newmarket audiences.

"The Old Bull," an amusing comedy, was well acted by all who took part. Mrs. J. O. Little was excellent as Sarah, the faithful family housekeeper. Dr. W. O. Noble, Uncle William, was with his dignified presence able to make peace between the avaricious older brother and the gentlemanly younger one. Jos. Cribar was particularly convincing as old Tom, and Clark Hill and John Fraser acted well in the roles of the two brothers, Charles and James.

The program was delightfully interspersed with groups of songs by Miss Davis, who sang with her usual charm. The audiences on both evenings demanded encores.

A charming dance entitled "Awakening of Spring," displayed gay flower costumes in pastel colors. The flowers, awakened by the spring breezes, danced gracefully. Those taking part were: Mary Robinson, Dorothy Sugden, Dorothy Seythes, Vera Belugin, Melba Lockhart, Margaret Fraser, Isabel Cody, Peggy King, Joyce Marwood, Kay Marwood, Bernice Scott, Elaine Robinson, Mary Bothwell, Pearl Gunn, Barbara Pritchard, Margaret Boddington, ladybugs: Dianne Lockhart and Noreen Seythes; bumble bees: Robert Lockhart and Wayne Robinson.

An effective Hungarian dance was smartly executed by Mary Robinson, Dorothy Sugden and Dorothy Seythes as boys and Melba Lockhart, Vera Belugin and Peggy King as girls. Dorothy Sugden and Mary Robinson made an attractive couple in another graceful dance.

On Friday evening Alexandra Belugin delighted the audience with a lovely and unusual Russian dance. She wore an effective Russian costume.

Madames M. Balfour, T. Leach and J. Booth gave sympathetic piano accompaniment for the various numbers.

On Thursday evening during the intermission Reeve Fred A. Lundy made a short appeal to the citizens of Newmarket to vote yes on the plebiscite. On Friday evening Deputy Reeve Jos. Vale spoke in the interests of an affirmative vote.

Mrs. A. N. Belugin was presented with roses on Friday evening in appreciation of her work in preparing the concert. Little Dianne Lockhart presented the bouquet.

North York's First Lady Dies In 93rd Year, Mrs. E. J. Davis

Gave Her Life To Quiet Unselfish Service
To School, Church, Family And Community

Death came on Friday to Mrs. E. J. Davis of Newmarket, widow of the late Hon. E. J. Davis, in her ninety-third year. Mrs. Davis was one of the oldest residents in North York and had spent her entire life in this district. She was born Oct. 24, 1849, in King township, and was the eldest daughter of David Johnston, one of the early Scottish pioneers of the district.

Prior to her marriage to the late E. J. Davis on Oct. 29, 1874, she taught school in King township. After her marriage, she took up residence with her husband in a small cottage near the old Kinghorn tannery where E. J. Davis was carrying on the leather business of A. Davis & Son in partnership with his father, the late Andrew Davis.

After the withdrawal of Andrew Davis from the business, Mr. and Mrs. Davis moved into the old Davis home at Kinghorn, where they resided from 1885 to 1904, when the family moved to Newmarket. During this period E. J. Davis was active in the political life of the province, being a member of the legislature from 1888 to 1904 and a member of the cabinet from 1896 until his retirement. While her husband was thus engaged, the late Mrs. Davis devoted herself to her home and to her five sons and two daughters, all of whom survive her.

The five sons in due course all entered the leather business and constitute the fourth generation of the Davis family to be engaged in the business which was started by their great-grandfather 107 years ago.

In addition to the love and care which Mrs. Davis bestowed upon her home, she was an ardent worker in the community, taking a keen and active interest in the church and school. She worked unceasingly for her family and the people of the district and her name is revered by all who came in contact with her.

After the family moved to Newmarket in 1904, Mrs. Davis

Gwillimbury War Worker Goes On Spending Spree

HOLLAND LANDING MAN HAS ORIGINAL IDEAS ABOUT USING MONEY

A Victory loan and war savings canvasser, Garry Thompson of Holland Landing received a cheque yesterday for his part in the recent Victory loan. There is no remuneration of course for war savings work.

Last year Mr. Thompson's Victory loan commission cheque went to the East Gwillimbury Red Cross but this year Mr. Thompson decided to spend the money himself. So he purchased four six-foot Union Jacks and divided the balance of his commission into seven cheques of $30 each, each cheque to go to a Red Cross work group in East Gwillimbury township.

The four flags will go to the four schools winning Mr. Thompson's war savings competition in East Gwillimbury. The schools were divided according to strength into four groups, and there will be a flag for the school in each group buying the most war savings certificates this year. There are about four schools in each group.

The Toronto Centre Presbyterian (northern section) of the Women's Missionary Society of the United church held a rally in Trinity United church yesterday.

Miss Annie Bishop, Toronto, opened the morning session. Greetings were extended by Mrs. W. R. Stephens, president of the Newmarket W.M.S. auxiliary, after which the worship service was conducted by Mrs. L. V. Stewart of Sutton. Her subject was "Prayer." A lovely solo was sung by Mrs. Hugh Shannon of Queensville.

The speaker of the morning session was Mrs. C. R. Carcailan of Whitby. Mrs. Carcailan, who spent 21 years in China, gave an informative address, speaking of the changes in China since 1902, when the first missionaries went there. In 1902 China was unknown and travelling inland was difficult.

"There was a Chinese saying, 'The way to Heaven is easier than the way to Szechuan,'" Mrs. Carcailan said. "Today China is well known."

"There have been three miracles of late years: the Spanish civil war, Dunkirk, and China. President Roosevelt recently spoke of the people of China as 'the unconquerable Chinese.'"

"The refugee migration of some 50,000,000 from the coast inland means great suffering. China has suffered more than there."

DIG IN FOR VICTORY

The last week's preview of spring has given an impetus to gardening. This year we can all go to work in our backyards or the vacant corner-lot to produce all the vegetables possible with the knowledge that we shall be making a contribution to the national welfare. Farmers won't resent our competition as "each bends his back with his neighbor."

There is, of course, more than quantity to consider in the production of vegetables. There is quality, though for consumption on our own tables we do not need to care about uniformity or size. What we mean by quality is what the vegetable contains. Agriculturalists are beginning to say that one garden's tomatoes and spinach can contain much more calcium, iron and phosphorus and other needed minerals than do another garden's vegetables. The reason will be that there is more mineral content in the soil of one garden than in the soil of another garden.

Recently the county agricultural representative's office has been making soil tests throughout York county to find out what the soil deficiencies are, and to be able to advise farmers what crops they can best grow and what fertilizers they should use.

The backyard gardener should bear in mind the same point, that soil should be fertilized not only so that it will produce quantity but so that it will produce quality, vegetables that contain a high percentage of the minerals essential to human health. Some gardeners make profitable use of the peellings from vegetables and other waste from the kitchen to enrich their garden soil. Others, only too often, do not fertilize their gardens in any way, and make the mistake of thinking that as long as the tomatoes are big they must be good. A purchase of a little commercial fertilizer this year, when it is so important for everybody to keep healthy, is likely to prove a profitable investment.

Soil deficiencies result in mineral deficiencies in vegetables, and vegetable deficiencies contribute to the supposedly increasing "deficiency diseases" which afflict mankind.

IN RETROSPECT

The rejoicing over the large Yes vote in the plebiscite is not commensurate with the importance which was ascribed to such a result. The reasons are even more obvious than they were before the vote took place. First, the vote has divided the country into French-speaking and English-speaking groups and presented the government with a more difficult problem than it faced before, and second, new interpretations are already being placed on the meaning of a Yes vote.

It is now being said that the voters have given the King government a mandate to introduce manpower conscription, whereas before Monday, in the effort to secure Yes votes, it was said that a Yes vote would merely enable the government and parliament to deal with the manpower question on its merits. Now it begins to appear that a Yes vote was a vote for conscription. Mr. King recently said that voluntary recruiting is meeting all present requirements and will continue to do so, as far as can be known, for the remainder of this fiscal year (that is, until the spring of 1943). Now Mr. King says "the will of the majority prevails," with the implication that the majority have asked for conscription. Forecasts from Ottawa are that the King government will introduce a conscription measure within the next two or three months (although that would probably mean a union government).

The Era repeatedly argued that once the voters said "Yes" it would be impossible for parliament to discuss conscription on its merits, for parliament would be subject to pressure from powerful influences which long ago decided that manpower conscription was desirable. The Toronto Daily Star, after stating that Mr. King had said that conscription probably would not be necessary "for the remainder of this fiscal year," says: "But Canada's overwhelming 'Yes' vote will undoubtedly be interpreted by advocates of conscription as a mandate to themselves to press now for its adoption irrespective of any change in the war situation" (that is, irrespective of any necessity for it seen by the government). "While the vote was taken simply to free the government from a pledge, the result inevitably throws the conscription issue itself into parliament."

The public has not given parliament instructions to introduce conscription. A majority (84 percent) voted Yes, but those who voted Yes included many, not in favor of manpower conscription, who thought that a No vote would encourage Hitler, many who, not in favor of manpower conscription, thought they were opening the way for the government to "conscript wealth," many who, not particularly in favor of conscription, thought that their Yes vote would be a criticism of the government, many who, though not in favor of manpower conscription, thought a Yes vote would indicate their confidence in the government. Mr. King said that a Yes vote was not a vote for conscription. Some of his Quebec lieutenants even said that the way to avoid conscription was to vote Yes.

It seems, however, that the plebiscite is to mean just what the various political parties choose it to mean, even if that is something quite different from the meaning that they put upon it before the voting.

As for manpower conscription, many think that having got this far with the voluntary system Canada will do better to stick to volunteers. If conscription had been effective with the declaration of war, none would have been "conscripted," but to introduce conscription now would be to add "conscripts" to a volunteer army. Aside from this question as to whether conscription would or would not increase Canada's military hitting power, many people feel that to adopt conscription now without a levy on property (capital as well as income) too is to deny the principle that human beings are more important than material things.

This war developed as a result of our inability to distribute the things we could produce, because of hunger and malnutrition in the world, and because of idle wealth. People generally recognize that it is only through the adoption of new principles of distribution that we can hope to avoid another war and recurring wars. If, in the midst of war, when our property is in jeopardy, we cannot sacrifice part of it to save the rest, there seems little hope of the willing adoption of new principles of distribution when the war is over.

WITH THE OPTIMISTS

Increasingly encouraging accounts of United Nations air strength, recognized as the key to victory, are being given by military commentators and foreign correspondents. For the sake of their various reputations they do not like to be too optimistic, but the general trend of prophecy seems to be that, if Russia does not lose too much ground and so too much industry to Germany this summer, by the end of the year Allied air strength will be dominant on every front. After that, they say, it will be just a matter of time until the Germans crumple up, not because they are beaten, but because they see ultimate defeat as inevitable. One military commentator went even further recently and said that, with Allied strength increasing so inexorably, it is within the realm of possibility that the Germans might quit this year, again not because they considered themselves beaten but because they had given up hope of victory themselves. Defeat of Russia this year, conversely, could postpone an Allied victory for several years.

One encouraging point to remember is that the tools of this war were largely conceived in Allied countries, the tank in Britain, the aeroplane and radio in the United States. The laboratories of the United States lead the world in invention and already U.S. scientists have contributed several inventions which are speeding up Allied production and writing large the ultimate defeat of the fascist nations.

The desirability of an invasion of the European continent from Britain, which is taking the form of a public debate, is first of all a question of military feasibility and in the second place a question of high war policy as to whether Britain, Canada and the United States should make such a costly expenditure of lives for the purpose of easing pressure on Russia or in the hope of bringing the war to an earlier end. The United Nations war council, if it undertook invasion for the latter reason, would weigh the lives which would be invested in a continental invasion against the lives, both civilian and military, which would be saved by an earlier victory.

Allied strength is increasing so much faster than fascist strength that victory is a question of when not if. People at home who want to share in the victory should make every sacrifice and practise every economy now, and not live on an eat, drink and be merry while we may basis. The abnormal spending which is taking place today is not patriotic and delays victory.

A SMITHS FALLS JUBILEE

The editor of the Smiths Falls Record-News, A. E. Dobbie, is marking the diamond jubilee of his newspaper by printing a 38-page edition and by going on active service with the Lanark and Renfrew Scottish, called up at the same time as the Queen's York Rangers. It will be guessed that Capt. Dobbie did not found the newspaper which he now publishes. His "supply" is Charles C. Milne, formerly of the Geraldton Times-Star.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

HE FITS HIS TITLE

(Port Erie Times-Review)

It is encouraging to know that Hon. Louis S. St. Laurent is fulfilling the high expectations that were held for him as minister of justice. Since he assumed that portfolio, a number of interned persons have been released and are now enjoying the liberty of action which, it seems, should never have been denied them.

Repeatedly The Times-Review has protested, with the utmost vigor, against the undemocratic policy of internment of citizens without trial, such as was followed by Mr. St. Laurent's predecessor in office. It has been a blot on Canada's escutcheon that free men should have been clapped into an internment camp and, "on information received," deprived of their liberty without due process of law—as it has been practised and understood in British nations for many centuries.

Mr. St. Laurent is to be congratulated for interpreting correctly the duties of his high office—the portfolio of justice.

FARM FORUM STUDIES

(Newmarket News)

Again we must emphasize our opinion that the Farm Forums developed as correlative of the Federation of Agriculture are proving of immense value in these times. The more the movement is studied, the more one becomes impressed of their many-sided values. There is, of course, the prime advantage of education. But there is more than that. The Forums are again bringing people into close association throughout rural Canada, and that makes for friendly community cohesion. There is too the factor of encouraging members not only to think for themselves, but to give expression to their views.

MR. SONGSPARROW GETS A SCOLDING

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"I just visited Main St. and I couldn't figure it out," Hattie Nuthatch told her friend, Merry, the Black-capped Chickadee, as she settled beside her in an old apple tree which was just beginning to come into leaf.

"What was the matter with Main St.?" inquired Merry. "I was there this morning, too, but nothing startled me particularly."

"It seemed so noisy to me," said Hattie.

"Oh, now I know why you thought it was different," chuckled the Chickadee. "It's the first time you have been on Main St. since the Purple Martins came back. And they make enough noise and change to make anyone wonder what has happened. They told me that they'd been back since the beginning of last week so they came in good time this year."

"Of course, that was it!" exclaimed Hattie. "Wasn't I stupid not to realize it? I must go and call on them all soon. It is jolly to have our faithful Martin friends back with us again. They are certainly old reliables, aren't they?"

"Just look at those Robins chasing each other," Merry remarked. "There seem to be a dozen Robins in every field and garden, these days, and in lots of cases causing trouble. They are noisy, too."

"There's a tiny little bird over in the wild cherry tree," whispered Hattie to the Chickadee lady. "Look over and see the one I mean. It's smaller than you are—I would say about your size, and it's bobbing around quite a bit among the branches. Let's go over closer and find out who it is."

"It has an olive-green back and yellowish white underparts and doesn't seem to have any very striking markings—yet it's a pretty little thing," described Merry, when the two birds had studied the stranger from a short distance away. "It looks like a Warbler of some kind."

"Well, it's obviously some kind of a Vireo," said Hattie firmly. "That plain olive-green coloring and its small size and shape tells me that, as well as its habits. It looks small for a Red-eyed Vireo, though. The Red-eyes are over six inches long and that bird certainly isn't."

"And it hasn't got the white eyebrow line, bordered with dark above and below it," said Merry. "No, it must be a Warbling Vireo. It is just faintly yellowish below, and its smaller cousin, who looks a good deal like it, the Philadelphia Vireo, has quite pronounced yellow on its breast and underparts. Therefore, it isn't a Philadelphia Vireo. They are quite rare, anyway."

"It isn't saying one word, is it?" commented the Nuthatch. "It hasn't uttered a syllable of any kind since we have been watching it. Let's go over and speak to it."

"Oh, dear, there goes an English Sparrow into the same tree to chase it away," exclaimed Merry a second later. "Why, what a shame, that's just exactly what happened! The Sparrow just made one dash at the little Vireo and the Vireo sped away across the field, leaving the Sparrow to perch on a high branch, the victor. Disgusting!"

Just then the victorious Sparrow burst into song.

"Why, good gracious me!" said Merry in quite a flutter. "That isn't an English Sparrow at all! It's a Song Sparrow! And he's so proud of himself that he's starting to sing his famous song. Well, I declare, I'm perfectly shocked at such behavior. He ought to be ashamed of himself."

Merry flew indignantly over to the pretty brown Song Sparrow and scolded him vigorously.

"Mrs. Nuthatch and I were absolutely stunned to see you do such a thing," she concluded. "We never for a moment dreamt that it wasn't an English Sparrow driving that lovely little Vireo away. We're quite ashamed of the way you acted."

"Well, you see, I can't have just anyone acting as if they owned this tree," explained the Song Sparrow. "We are going to build our nest right near here—I'm not saying where, but quite nearby, and we don't want any intruders."

"I still think it was very rude," persisted Merry. "It isn't every day that we have a Warbling Vireo in Newmarket. Why, they aren't common at all. That bird may go out to the woods now and not come back to town at all. What will it think of the manners of the town birds?"

"Oh, I can't worry about that," said the Song Sparrow airily. "I have my own home and family to think of."

"Well, I guess I didn't do any good," sighed Merry, when she had returned to Hattie. "He doesn't seem a bit ashamed. Let's go over in the direction the Vireo took and see if we can find him again. It will be hard, though, because he's so quiet today and isn't a bit conspicuous-looking, either."

The Common Round

IN THE SPRINGTIME

By Isabel Inglis Colville

There are so many things that belong to the spring—poems and daffodils and birds and lovers—and a thousand other things too numerous to mention.

In these days when everything is tabulated and numbered and registered and what not; when governments democratic are scurrying round trying to fit real workers into their proper places and shirkers are trying to find the line of least resistance, one wonders why the same government didn't try this in peacetime and thought a glow of pleasure in the feels that the policy of fitting round pegs into round holes will continue long after a true and lasting peace gives the nations of the world a chance to rebuild. When governments totalitarian are fitting square pegs into round holes and vice versa, it is lovely to think that in the springtime nature makes no blunders. Where you planted daffodils, daffodils will come; where great masses of peonies, red and pink and white, delighted you last year, already little noses are sniffing the chill spring winds are sniffing the breeze and preparing to come forth.

And thinking of all this and in keeping with rationing and taking stock of resources, would it not be fun to find a list of the poets who have sung of spring—sung of it in rain and shine, in moonlight and sunlight, perfumed with violets and colored with the rose and gold and scarlet and mauve of tulips and cheered by the songbirds.

Of course, spring has her little temper, when she lets frost pinch the noses of too adventurous flowers or sends a gale to strip the pines and spruces.

It seems to have a bad effect on certain tempers too—the birds peck and thrust each other away from certain tid bits—and our Speck!

"WHAT is that unearthly sound?" asked my better half, the other night, as a low moaning came to our ears.

Straining those same ears, we heard first a staccato exclamation, then a sharp hiss, horribly reminiscent of a snake about to strike, then a duet, crescendo, accelerate and fortissimo!

"It might be a duel," I suggested, as the sounds died away and presently a lamentable voice demanded admission, and in came Speck.

"Look!" exclaimed Mother. "SOMEONE has hurt my cat," for Speck was sitting before her, having hysterics—sort of between high pitched weeping and an equally high pitched laughter.

One eye, surrounded by teeth-marks, was swollen shut and a more disreputable object it would have been hard to find.

An application of warm boracic to his eye and milk to his inner man somewhat restored him to normalcy and he went off to the couch muttering anathemas on the other cat, as Archie inquired "what the other fellow looked like?"

But Speck, with a backward glance from his one available eye, continued his retreat, to the couch from which at intervals vaguely threatening rumblings were heard.

Now I want to add another bit of spring. Just before I started to write this the telephone rang. Being at my dinner and just having conveyed a mouthful of pudding to the receptacle intended for it, I said, somewhat thickly "Yes?" and a strange voice wanted to know if I was the Mrs. Colville who wrote? As well as my half-masticated bite would allow, I said, I hope—sweetly, "Yes." Whereupon the lady said she thought I might like to pass on a spring dainty to my readers. On my assuring her somewhat more coherently—for I'd chewed well and nobly as she talked—that I'd be delighted, she asked, "Is your rhubarb up? For," said she, "if it is take the first shoots, wash them well, then slice as thinly as possible, sprinkle with sugar and let stand over night, then eat in the morning with a thankful heart and I'll guarantee you will consider them equal to strawberries!" So there, I've passed on the tip and hope you'll enjoy it. I intend to try it whenever our rhubarb condescends to show itself.

Now I'll stop writing ABOUT spring and go and work FOR her—try to clean up my poor neglected rock garden, so adieu till next week.

WAR does a PINCERS MOVEMENT on Telephones

ON the one hand, demand for new telephone installations—especially in residences—has been greater than ever before. On the other, the materials which go into telephone equipment and the equipment itself have both been largely diverted to military and emergency use. Result: a serious shortage of facilities to take care of civilian requirements—of wire, cable, switchboards, instruments. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has charged us with the responsibility of rigidly restricting telephone installations. We have no alternative. From now on, new installations can be made only where they can be justified in the light of the war emergency and to the extent that facilities are available.

In appealing for your cooperation, we urge that you ask for a telephone only where such recognized essential service is involved. And to all telephone users, we again stress the need for consistent practice of "Wartime Telephone Tactics"—your contribution to keeping telephone lines clear for urgent war business.

WARTIME TELEPHONE TACTICS

- BE QUIET. You have the right number, consult the directory.
- SPEAK DISTINCTLY, directly into the mouthpiece.
- ANSWER PROMPTLY when the bell rings.
- BE BRIEF. Clear your line for the next call.
- USE OFF-PEAK hours for Long Distance calls before 9:30 a.m., 1-3 p.m., 5-7 p.m., after 9 p.m.

These things may look trifling, but on 6,500,000 daily telephone calls, they are very important.

YOUR SCRAP RUBBER*is now a vital war material*

Enemy action in the Far East has caused such an acute shortage of rubber that our whole war effort is in serious danger. Canada and her Allies must have rubber, quickly, for the armed forces, for ships. The Japanese control our source of crude rubber imports—the only other quickly available supply is old scrap rubber, which can be reclaimed. Every citizen in Canada must do his part in collecting all the scrap rubber in the country and turning it over to the Government for war purposes. Here is how to do it.

THIS IS AN URGENT APPEAL FOR YOUR HELP

Question: Is the rubber situation really serious?

Answer: The shortage of rubber is so grave that any citizen hoarding rubber or using it unnecessarily is committing an act of disloyalty. It is now illegal to destroy any rubber article.

Question: Of what use is reclaimed rubber?

Answer: Old rubber is processed so that the rubber content is reclaimed. This reclaimed rubber is used in the manufacture of essential articles for our war effort, thus replacing crude rubber.

Question: How much scrap rubber is needed?

Answer: Fifty Million Pounds. This is a large quantity, but it MUST be found. Every old piece of rubber in Canada, no matter how small, is needed, QUICKLY.

Question: Should I turn in any usable rubber articles as well as worn out ones?

Answer: Absolutely not! By no means discard anything that is still useful and that might have to be replaced. On the other hand, rubber tires used as boat bumpers, swings, etc., should be turned in for war use.

HOW DO I TURN IN MY SCRAP RUBBER?

The school boys and girls of Canada are being organized, through the school authorities, to act as Official Collectors of Scrap Rubber. The school nearest you is, therefore, your best Collection Depot. You may dispose of your scrap rubber in any one of the following four ways:

When you gather up your scrap rubber and dispose of it by one of these methods, it will be used by the Government for Canada's War Effort. Do it NOW!

POLICE COURTTAXI TRAVELS AT 65, PAYS $17, FINE, COSTS

"I'm sorry for what I have done and won't do it again," a King township man promised Magistrate W. E. McIlveen in Newmarket police court Tuesday. His worship fined the defendant $10 and costs on a charge of illegal possession. "You understand that, if you come back here on the same offence within the year you will be fined $50," warned his worship.

Constable Aubrey Fleury testified that he and Constable Fisher Dunham had been walking along the street in Aurora at 12:30 in the morning of April 5 when they noticed the defendant with a partly consumed bottle of wine in his pocket.

"He had been drinking and was being noisy on the street," stated the officer.

Speeding his taxi at 65 miles an hour on the Yonge St. highway resulted in John MacDonald of Barrie having to pay $17 into court. This amount included the fine and costs. Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson, who laid the charge, told his worship that he had followed the accused's car in King at 8:30 p.m. on March 31.

At the request of Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., Clarence Scodre and Winnifred Handy, Aurora, were remanded for a week or two weeks on bail if they are able to raise it.

The accused are charged on three counts, theft of a car, the property of Duncan Tillett, Roche's Point, taking a car without the owner's consent and vagrancy.

Magistrate McIlveen fined George Courtney, Schomberg, $10 and costs for having inadequate brakes on his car.

William H. Lumney, Woodbridge, who was fined by Constable Kenneth Mount while driving at 40 miles an hour in Newmarket, was fined $4.25 and costs.

William Melbourne, Bradford, who was charged with failing to produce his commercial motor vehicle permit at the request of County Constable Ronald Watt, was given a remanded sentence.

Cases adjourned until next week were: John Watson, Toronto, charged with not having his 1942 driver's license, W. J. Curran, Bayville, bad brakes on his car, Paul Pidlitzky, Toronto, speeding,

FARM FORUM

By MAE HARMAN

The annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture held in Toronto on March 17 and 18 was considered one of the most outstanding farm meetings ever held in this province.

Both the women and the young people made it known that they wanted to take their place in the organization and work of the federation. They did not want to form separate units but to work jointly with the men on a family basis. Provision was made for six women directors and six young people's directors to serve on the provincial board and one of each was elected to the executive.

The convention also brought together the commodity and the community groups. Farm Forums were well represented and one afternoon was largely devoted to them. Some 11 people reported on the forum activities in their respective counties.

Stewart Page gave a splendid outline of the activities of 71 study groups in Simcoe county, which have been organized by the county federation.

Carl Hutchinson, educational director of the Ohio Farm Bureau, told the meeting that "Our two great nations face the same problems. Our big job is to bring our people to the point where they are awakened, enlightened and in gear to work out these problems."

R. J. Scott stressed the need for organization. He said that the farmer has done enough by himself and that he must now think in terms of an organization. "We must create in the minds of the people the idea of unity within agriculture and create opinion within and without agriculture," he stated.

Among other speakers were H. H. Hannam, who spoke on the work of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture during the past year and Mr. W. R. Reek, who told what was required in the way of production and what measures are being adopted to relieve the labor situation.

M. M. Robinson dealt with the problem of price ceilings and Mr. Baker of the Bowmanville Statesman spoke on the weekly newspapers and their relationship to agricultural problems.

The large attendance at the convention and the sincere interest in the common problems of all farm folk speaks well for the work of the federation in the past and leads the way to further accomplishments in the future.

There was a good attendance at the Young People's meeting last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Thos. Sanderson in Newmarket.

week was a great success. Mr. Bugler's act was enjoyed by everyone, as were the musical numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dutton of Cookstown spent Sunday with Mrs. J. Pegg and Mr. and Mrs. E. Dutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Denne and Ruth, of Queensville, were the guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kitching.

During the spring and summer months the services at Christ church will be held every Sunday at 1 p.m. Members of the congregation are asked to please note the change in time.

Ravenshoe

Mrs. Stewart Wight, formerly Mrs. Mary Taylor of Keswick, is welcomed to her new home in this community.

Rev. Gordon Lapp visited Ravenshoe school last week for another of the Bible lessons which Rev. Mr. McAsh and he began last fall. Until Mr. McAsh's departure for Chatham they alternated, week by week. Since that time Mr. Lapp has been visiting the school every other week, in order to complete the work planned in the fall. He reports a keen interest and response from the children.

There was a good turn-out for the April supper served by the Women's Association of the United church. The hostesses were Mrs. Lorne Holborn and Mrs. Ralph Holborn. Following the supper and a period of visiting, a set of colored lantern slides on missionary work in India was shown.

On Mother's Day, the second Sunday of May, the church service and the Sunday-school session will be combined. This will also be baptismal Sunday. Next Sunday, the first in May, Mr. Lapp will preach on the subject, "Out of the Earth Cometh Bread." Sunday-school will follow the service.

On Monday evening Ravenshoe and Keswick Young People's Union will visit Pickering College, Newmarket, for a game of volleyball and to see the building. All young people are invited to take advantage of this opportunity.

Rev. Gordon Lapp gave an inspiring message on Sunday at the United church, his subject being, "No Abiding City."

Ravenshoe Y.P.U. were invited to Keswick on Monday of last week when Rev. Gordon Lapp showed slides on India. An interesting evening was spent.

Farmers are busy now. Seeding is in full swing. The weather has been quite dry for spring. The trees and flowers are coming out these last few days of warm weather.

Mrs. Wilfred Crowder is steadily improving in health.

TO THE EDITOR

Cpl. Ted Robinson writes (April 2) from England: It has been some time since I have written you thanking you for the paper which arrives every week. You would have to be over here and receive a paper to appreciate what it is like getting the news from home.

There are lots of things I would like to tell you but army laws have to be carried out, so that prevents me giving anything interesting. I will say that if they were to give us something worthwhile to do we would all feel much better.

Newmarket seems to be doing a great bit of war work and all the lads over here must be proud to belong to the old town. I would like to thank, through your paper, all those people who are responsible for all the wonderful gifts sent to me here in England. They make a fellow feel pretty good.

The following letter (March 28) has been received by The Era from Signalmen Frank Boyd, a former member of The Era staff.

Many thanks for the Eras which I have been receiving regularly since I arrived in England. I am very grateful

LOCAL MARKET

Prices on the local market on Saturday morning for butter were 37 and 38 cents a pound. Eggs brought 25 to 30 cents a dozen.

Citron were 20 cents each. Yentling chickens sold at 25 cents a pound.

TORONTO MARKETS

On the Toronto markets on Tuesday morning, butter, creamery solids, No. 1, were 35 1/2 cents and creamery prints, first grade, were quoted to retail trade at 34 1/2 cents a pound.

Country dealers were quoted on graded eggs, cases free, delivered to Toronto, for grade A large, 20 to 30 cents; A medium, 23 to 24 cents a dozen.

Prices in the cattle section were: weighty steers, $10.25 to $11.00; butcher steers, $9.50 to $11; hofers, $9.50 to $10.50; butcher cows, $9.25 to $9.50.

Choice veal calves sold at $14 to $15, with common lights selling downward to $8.

A few good feed lot lambs sold at $13 cwt., with spring lambs at $10 to $12 each.

Hogs sold at $15.25 dressed-weight and sows at $11 dressed-weight.

Supreme in Quality "SALADA" TEA

for this opportunity of keeping in touch with all that goes on in the old home town.

I am getting along fine over here now and I really believe that famous English spring has already arrived. For the past three weeks the weather has been grand and the country is beginning to look its best.

What surprises me most of all in this country is the excellent morale of these English and Scotch peoples. I've yet to hear one of them express the least doubt as to the final outcome of this struggle even when things look the blackest. They all look forward to "when we win the war" and what they will do afterwards. I still believe that is one of the prime reasons that Hitler has not made a large scale invasion long before this.

You may be surprised that the shortage of paper has not curtailed the English papers to any large degree. Although forced to cut down on size they are quite proud of the fact that they always deliver their papers daily to their public. Sometimes they are quite late but they always get there.

I would like to thank Mr. Gilroy and the Lions club for the parcel of cigarettes they sent. Gifts from home are always welcome and it makes us feel that you folks at home are right behind us and backing us to the very limit.

Once again, good luck and many thanks.

There is no charge for printing pictures in The Era.

WANT CHICKS?

Better Order Now!

JUST to be on the safe side, it's good business to place your order for Bray Chicks NOW, even if you don't want them until later.

In fairness to forehanded customers, the Bray Hatcheries simply have to follow a policy of "First Come, First Served." The poultry raiser who puts in his order first naturally gets first choice on time of shipment, and breed. He gets what he wants when he wants it.

It's a good example to follow. You can't lose by it, and you may gain. And when it's a matter as important as choosing chicks... the very foundation of your whole poultry business for the whole year... it's best to play safe, to make sure that you'll be able to get those good Bray Chicks when you want them. Not that there won't be lots of good Bray Chicks coming along, all May and June; but that ordering ahead will give you "head choice" on time and breed, and guard your best interests.

BRAY CHICK HATCHERY
NEWMARKET PHONE 126

For May and June hatched chicks, pep, punch, fast get-away, fast growth, early and complete development, are even more important than for their earlier brothers and sisters. The Bray organization has been working steadily for years at the job of putting these profit-characteristics into Bray Chicks. You'll be surprised at what they have accomplished!

"LOUISIANA PURCHASE" IS IN OFFING AS SCREEN FARE FOR FIVE LUCKY CONTEST WINNERS

From the 44 contestants who sent in correct answers to last week's classified contest the following five were drawn as the lucky winners by R. C. Smith, Main St. hardware merchant: Miss Eva Moore, 218 Main St., Newmarket, Glennia West, 9 Pearson St., Newmarket, Mrs. Wm. Bray, 131 Main St., Newmarket, Mrs. Ted Baillie, 69 Eagle St., Newmarket, and Robert McGillivray, Queensville, R.R. 1.

Any incorrect answers or those which did not arrive before 9.30 on Tuesday morning were not included in the draw. Correct answers were: everything, useful, children, rangeland, machine, pulleys, excellent, holidays, attachment and orchard. Apologies for the extra "e" we scrambled into "rangeland." Any cases where the contestants left this word out or had mistakes in this word were therefore not counted against them this week. Should a mistake occur again please fill in the word you think was intended without inquiring by phone, as a good many of the contestants are unable to do this and it gives the others an unfair advantage.

AURORA, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 30TH, 1942

SINGLE COPIES, 5 CENTS EACH

SAILOR HONORED BY SNOWBALL COMMUNITY

An enjoyable evening was spent at Snowball schoolhouse on Friday evening when a large crowd turned out to honor Orville Morrison, son of Wm. Morrison of Aurora, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison of Snowball. Orville recently returned to his home after more than five months' service in the merchant marine. He gave an interesting talk on his trip to and from Murmansk, Russia. A presentation was made by Douglas Harrison, and Mrs. Steckley read an address on behalf of the Snowball community.

"Your friends of Snowball do not let your first leave pass without in some small way recognizing the value of the work in which you are engaged. You and your comrades of the merchant marine are giving very necessary and heroic aid in the cause of our United Nations. As a token of our appreciation of your efforts and the high esteem in which you are held we ask you to accept this pen and pencil set and money belt, together with our best wishes for successful voyages in the future and a safe return home."

The program of eucure and croquetois followed. The winners were: eucure, ladies' first, Mrs. Geo. Case; gentlemen's first, Gordon Beckett; ladies' consolation, Doris Mitchell; gentlemen's consolation, Allan Gellistly; croquetois, ladies' first, Mrs. N. Says Sabotage Will Come
As War Production Grows

One hundred and thirty-five members of the Aurora and Richmond Hill Civilian Defence Corps heard an address by Major G. R. N. Collins of the Legion of Frontiersmen at Masonic Hall, Richmond Hill, last Thursday. It was the first in a series of nine lectures alternating between the two centres. Tonight Capt. J. Bentley of Toronto will speak on "Enemy Gases" at Aurora high school auditorium. R. C. Edmunds of Richmond Hill acted as chairman of the meeting and expressed himself as pleased with the attendance.

"I am not an alarmist, but I am appalled by the apathy of so many Canadians," declared Major Collins. "We in the Toronto area are definitely not immune from air attack, as so many people blindly believe. The route here by the Arctic is not an impossible one but quite feasible when we see how far planes are going on raids. Hit-ter might well be satisfied to sacrifice a few planes to do millions of dollars of damage. If the planes weren't shot down but came down out of gas, the officers and crew would merely surrender and be protected by the rules of war."

"Make no mistake about it, German submarines are blocking our shores today and we cannot stand to lose shipping at the present rate." He said that he regarded the menace of fifth columnists as very real.

"Our propaganda is bad," he stated. "We build plans, give information out about them in every detail and even furnish our enemies with published photos, some of them from the air, of the plants. There is an army of enemy airmen here. Some are out and out silent supporters of the Axis. Others because they have relatives in suppressed lands have to toe the line if they are told. These people are not showing their hand now."

Sabotage will come when our war production is at full blast, and when the mode of damage can be done. We are in more danger of sabotage as we increase our production."

Mistakes in bombing Toronto might easily mean bombs in its suburbs, he said.

"If Toronto is bombed you people will have a tremendous task, as Yonge St. would be crowded with refugees and you would have to be prepared to take care of them."

"If we don't know what to do here when the time comes it will be our own fault. We have plenty of precedents in other countries to follow and it will only be apathy on our part."

AURORA CHOIR DOES
WELL AT FESTIVAL

Eighty members of the Aurora Victory Chorus journeyed to Brampton on Friday evening to the Peel County Musical Festival and, while unopposed in their class, scored a real triumph and were awarded a handsome cup.

The adjudicator, George Lambert, paid high tribute to the chorus, awarding them 84 marks. "It was a splendid performance, excellent tone," said Mr. Lambert.

The choir won an ovation from the huge crowd and have been invited to appear on the parade of champions performance on Saturday evening. Fourteen cars were required to transport the choir.

The chorus will appear in Aurora United church on May 12, when they will be assisted by Ellis McCintock, cornetist with the Toronto Symphony orchestra. The Aurora public school choir will also appear briefly on the program.

TWO WANTED MEN
CAPTURED IN AURORA

Chief Constable Fisher Dunham arrested two men on Saturday morning wanted by Toronto police for assault and robbery of Leslie Young, Toronto taxi driver.

Chief Dunham, on night patrol, saw a taxi parked in front of Dan's Cafe and a man emerge and walk towards Wellington St. "He appeared to be intoxicated and I decided to investigate," said the chief.

The man entered Dan's Cafe and made a small purchase and, becoming disorderly, was chased with a broom from the cafe by the owner, Leo King. The man, who gave his name as Charles Young, was arrested and taken to the cells at Newmarket. Returning to Aurora, the chief searched for the driver of the taxi and found him registered at the Hotel Hartley, Bolton.

He told police that he was a taxi driver and had been forced to drive to Aurora by a man with a piece of lead pipe, who had stolen his wallet. "Taking him to Newmarket they were not able to find a driver's license or wallet in the possession of the other man, but 'Hartley' had money on him which he said was his own."

The chief took the youth, who said he was 16, into custody and communicated with Toronto police. The youth now admitted that "Hartley" was an alias. His story was almost a replica of what had happened earlier in the evening, except that Leslie Young had been brutally beaten and dumped on the Lansing sidewalk, police believed. The two men appeared in Toronto police court on Saturday morning.

He is survived by two brothers, Jack and Hugh of Mount Albert, and two sisters, Mrs. William (Bossie) Rosamond of Newmarket and Mrs. Norman (Cora) Rogers of Toronto. The funeral service was held on Monday at P. M. Thompson's funeral parlor with Rev. Roy Hicks in charge. Pallbearers were all close friends: Leland Bryan, Ross Macchell, Anthony Caruso, Bert Taylor, all of Aurora, and Jack Booth and Al Skinner of Newmarket. Interment was made in Newmarket cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hamby, Yonge St., have moved to Toronto, where Mr. Hamby has accepted a position.

DOWN THE CENTRE

We apologize to our readers for last week's absence. The column was duly typed but went astray en route, arriving too late.

Bert Morrison, dynamic leader of the Newmarket hardball loop, held an executive committee meeting last week and in other parts of this issue you'll see the results of this week's organization meeting.

Three teams, the Office Specialty, Davis Leather and Town, are ready to face the barrier and a fourth team is being sought. The town team, a doubtful starter, has, we understand, secured some reinforcements from the new paint company in Newmarket, and in-centally Doug Paul, former western Ontario athlete, headman at the paint works, should help things considerably this year if the boys can interest him.

The military camp was an uncertain quantity last week but this week or next it may be different. Last season the camp won the title and while the personnel of the team was changed from time to time, still there was a nucleus on what was regarded as the permanent staff to hold the team together. Three stalwarts of last year who were on the staff, Alex Jackson, Phil Vitale and Al. Boake, have moved on, and we believe

Niles and Andrews are the only two boys left. The camp were a colorful bunch and we would like to see them back in the league. Enlistments have taken a big toll on the league. Shorty Turan, the tannery catcher, and the best in the loop, Frank Boyd, Johnny VandenBergh, the Specialty shortstop, Bob Benville, Elmes and others have donned either khaki or blue.

War work has caused other players to move, including Alex Webster, Aub. Barker, Johnny Hooper, the Specialty speedballer, Mickey Smith and more.

Aurora has been extended a bid to enter a team and with a minimum of travelling and good games assured it is an idea we hope somebody here will mull over carefully.

Alex Kirkwood, former bigwig of local hardballers, has quite a bit of equipment on hand, from the days of the Blue Ribbons, which he could easily be persuaded to turn over. It is a big start.

Mickey Smith, now located here, would answer the need of a good starting pitcher for Aurora, while it wouldn't take long for some of the softballers and high school lads to become adept at the game.

George Jiggins might be coaxed out of retirement to give the boys a hand and likewise Herb McKenzie, Charlie Milne, Charlie Cass and "Fat" Patterson have also had some hardball experience.

There are also newcomers to town who know what the game is all about. The new screen provides something the hardballers of other days lacked, while the grounds could soon be got in shape. There's a situation that might be fully explored by some of the home town with a regular sports program for the summer. The Newmarket league will welcome an Aurora entry and the gates, which were pretty good last year, would be bolstered quite a bit with some inter-town competition. We would like to see Newmarket enter the team in the O.A.B.A. this year.

They could secure a bye for the team and enter an all-star team in the play-offs. Stouffville is again dead so far as a team is concerned but Sunderland will probably carry on.

Bruce Oliver of Sunderland, who has done a lot to keep baseball going in Ontario and Victoria counties, has been elected a member of the O.A.B.A. executive and could be depended upon to lend a hand to any of the local teams if they were interested in some extra competition. Maybe the wish is father to the thought but we would like to see hardball return here again.

Archie Goring, one of the leading badminton players at Newmarket, has joined the R.C.A.F. in recent weeks and is now located at Trenton.

Loes Owrnan, the local tennis ace and probably the best in the district, expects a good season at the Aurora club with quite a bit of interest being shown among the players. The York-Simcoe league, won by Uxbridge last year, is expected to function at least as a three-club league again. Tennis is one sport where a single car can transport the whole team and travelling is at a minimum. The local courts are now being readied for the season.

Keith Nisbet, who played with C.N.R. last year, has returned to town and should strengthen the local netmen in their quest for honors.

Archie Thompson, the colored boxer and umpire from Barrie, is one of the new recruits for the Grey-Simcoe Foresters reserve battalion.

Bob Foster of Markham, who will be recalled by Aurora and other teams as an outstanding goalie for Markham juniors back in the halcyon days of the early 30's, and who afterwards played goal at Oshawa, wound up the season as a member of the champions of the Michigan-Ontario league, midland. It is a pseudo-amateur circuit.

Danforth Aces eliminated the T.H.L. junior champions in the King Clancy series and have a three-goal lead over Redbirds. Del. Beaumont got three goals against the Reds. About four teams are still left in the series, so Don. Hamilton and the boys are not expected to hang up their skates much before May 1. They have several players on their line-up who would be sure things for an Aurora line-up next season if there is a team. Incidentally, three of the smartest junior C players in the province have written the local management to say they would like to play here next season and would be prepared to move here any time. It would be a ten-strike if they could be secured. They are too young for military service, are said to be good steady workers and clean-cut lads who could probably fit into the local industrial picture without displacing anyone from a job. Any employers who read this and might be interested should contact either President J. B. Walker or the writer.

Dick Schad, the former Markham goalie now out west with Oshawa juniors, weds Miss Fern Jones of Agincourt on May 9. This is Schad's last year in junior and he was replaced this season by Ross Waddell.

A new recruit for the softball team arrived in Aurora last week in the person of C. L. Sparks, Jr. Only trouble is he won't be ready for action until about 1950, so don't get excited Mr. Simmons. Meanwhile proud daddy Lyall Sparks is wearing one of those grins that won't come off.

Markham hockey is holding big winter proceedings at Malvern hall on May 15. Jimmy Lowe was picked for the all-star team that played the Nanaimo Clippers in a final west-coast hockey charity. Lowe banged home two counters and was one of the best men on the ice.

Norman Chatterley, former Bond Lake boy and one of the younger bowlers of the district, has been elected president of the Richmond Hill lawn bowling club. Duncan Chatterley and Russ. Lynett, two more of the younger fry as bowlers go, are games chairman and vice-president respectively.

Frank Pringle has been named head of the Markham club, with Murray Wilson as secretary-treasurer.

Slugging Joe Alderson, the Newmarket boy who fought so well at Niagara camp last season, has joined the active unit of the Queen's Yorks. Joe with a little more experience and the condition the rigorous army life will give him should make his mark in army boxing. Dave Mathewson, former Aurora cyclist, is at Camp Borden, the Ontario tank corps and looking very fit too in his black beret.

Jimmy Orlando, the rough, tough, bashing Detroit defenceman, is of all things an enthusiastic amateur cameraman off the ice. In his off moments Orlando, it is said, is almost a pest as he is everywhere there and everywhere for candid camera shots, some of which are a bit embarrassing at times.

Herbie Cain, we are told, had the big pro series all doped out when the Maple Leaf supporters were hanging on the ropes. He backed his contentions with the greenbacks too and more than one Newmarket sportsman feels a bit in the snicker class now. Herb is ready for another season of hard-balling too and will again essay to smash par on the local rinks.

The mail bag brought a letter with a bit of challenge to us. We were asked to publish an article on Sunday baseball of all things. It is pretty well written and contains many arguments that are pretty hard to get around. Without venturing any comments of our own we give you the highlights of the letter. "I have been reading with interest the fact that baseball teams in western Ontario are seeking permission for Sunday baseball. Until I started on war work I'll admit the problem never bothered me. Now with gas rationing and fewer tires I'll have to lay up the old bus in place of going some place Sundays. Small towns at the best are pretty dull, and Toronto on Sunday isn't much better. The boys at the shop all like baseball or softball and are in about the same boat as me. If baseball or softball is to be regarded as reprehensible on Sunday, what about other sports that apparently have the green light from the law?"

"Golf is allowed, even approved by our legislators. Tennis is not included in the blue laws, nor is swimming nor badminton. These sports afford recreation for only the few, and we never have begrudged them that pleasure or do we now. The question of fees at most golf clubs keeps the game away from most working men. In fact, they are designed to do so. Tennis and badminton are mostly white collar sports."

"So the only thing left to us is walking. In view of the pulpits and those not affected by the Lord's Day Act it isn't much of a course to come to and plug for Sunday play. But discrimination is scarcely in keeping with democracy. In Quebec, the people go to church in the morning and can have a wide choice of amusement in the afternoon. In the States and in the army camps the same thing applies. These people heathens or less religious than the rest of us? I think not, and their morals are just as good too."

"To hit a baseball on Sunday is an act punishable by law. To hit a golf ball on Sunday is a sport. If Sunday ball was permitted, it's a cinch it won't be. It would provide relaxation and recreation for thousands of people who have to find a release for pent-up emotions in other ways, many less desirable than sport. One ball game would let several hundreds, if not more, relax. Sunday afternoon is the only afternoon they have in which to enjoy pleasurable pursuits. The government, so it says, wants sport to go on. To carry sport needs money. Sunday is the one day the man on the street would be available."

"I think that the public wouldn't respond or take to it like a duck to water. The government, especially Mitch Hepburn, knows this too. I have always figured Mitch a friend of the workingman. He has a chance to really get it now. To date, the golfers and blwigs have had too much on the political ball whenever Sunday ball was mentioned. Perhaps some of your readers have similar ideas. Maybe you'll be afraid to publish it.—The Shadow."

"Well, all we can say, Mr. Shadow, is that we are interested in comments on other subjects we'll be pleased to use them. If anyone else wants to buzz off about Sunday ball we'll consider it favorably."

Ace Yake writes from the coast to say that Vancouver Caplanos is ready for another class C pro ball season and that Smead Jolley, once the scourge of international league pitchers, has finally retired from the game. He also says the Duffs will have another crack baseball team this season. "The Duffys Dodgers of Brooklyn had nothing on the Duffys of Nanaimo," and we have reason to know that the saying is fairly accurate. On sick furlough, Ace plans to go to Alaska.

Don Willson, the former Newmarket Redman, with winter over, has returned from New Haven to Orillia, which is his other home now. He will play softball there and if a lacrosse team is formed will play for the Terriers.

Speaking about lacrosse, it seems likely that after 11 consecutive playing years, Rusty White will hang up his stick. Fergus is out of lacrosse and at Brampton, where White played last year, there are no signs of action around Hagersville.

It was in 1930, when Richmond Hill first came back to the lacrosse wars, that White grabbed a stick and in a single season had risen to stardom, although he had never wielded the gutted mace before. He has suffered just about every injury you could expect in lacrosse but still kept going and last year wasn't hurt by any means. If there's a club nearby, White will likely turn out but it doesn't look as if he'll have that chance.

Fred Valenti, who was with Quebec in the series against Sutton, is a North Bay boy and last year he played for Toronto stockyards, with Cummings and Donkin as line-men.

Mary McCannan will definitely be playing senior softball at Sunny-side this year and she will line up with the gold and maroon colors of a big department store, one of the best anywhere, if what we hear is right. We do know the Newmarket girl has had three senior clubs to choose from, so you can figure she's made good in her favorite sport. Two other former Newmarket girl softballers are located in Toronto and may again take a flier at the game.

Ten to Ace has been entered in the Canadian derby to be run at Polo Park, Winnipeg, on July 1. The purse is a fair-sized one and the race is fast becoming one of Canada's classics. Last year Bud-path, who won the King's Plate, also won the derby, and Charlie Smith hopes to be a double winner too this year.

St. Andrew's cricketers got into action this week and Harry Davis has the pitch and grounds in first-class condition despite difficulty in obtaining help. With cricket not being a compulsory sport at the school this year, only a first team will be fielded and there are about 18 candidates looking spots.

"I don't think there'll be any big four prep school games except perhaps with Upper Canada," Coach Davis told us. "Trips to Port Hope, St. Catharines and Lakefield are just about out with gas rationing in effect. We will have the usual exhibitions against Toronto teams but our schedule will likely pretty well follow easy bus or car trips."

We had forgotten about it but we presume all sporting clubs are out of luck now so far as chartering motor buses are concerned. At least, that's the way the ruling looks. Train travel is generally only practicable for games that are to be played at night.

A golfer died and went, we are told to the nether regions. Things were quite different from what he had expected to find. He was whisked by car to a swank country club, given a matched set of golf clubs and an ensemble that was a thing of beauty. Two beautiful maids were assigned to him as caddies and when he saw the lay-out of the course he thought, with time on his hands, he was in for plenty of fun. Placing a tee in the ground he waited patiently for one of the caddies to set the ball or at least hand it to him from the bag. Getting no action he demanded a rubber pill and swooned away gently when the caddy said, "There's no such thing as a golf ball here. That's the h— of it."

Office Specialty bowlers have concluded the bowling season at Newmarket as champions of Joe Smith's alleys against all-comers. The Specialty were well balanced and deserved their win over the season. Ernie Bonitta captained the team which was composed of Syd. Simmons, Lyle Bond, Chuck Wesley, John Hulse and Ray Stickland. "Stick" is now rustling cash for the Queen's Yorks at Borden. Six teams of six men each, one from each town, are competing for the George Thompson, provided miniature cups for the winners, and medals for the second team to finish, which was a town aggregation of Jack Macnab, Ray Jolley, Horace Cumber, George Thompson, Mickey Smith, Barney Stuffles and Lyman Rae. Herbie Bonitta had the high single score for the season, and Lyle Bond trundled the high three games. A gala season of good fun was enjoyed by all the lads.

Mervyn Broughton, the star center of Aurora juniors, is said to be figuring on joining the boys on the briny deep shortly. Broughton took many a rough ride in junior hockey and came back for more. So he should make a good sailor. This year was his last in junior hockey and it was too bad injuries spoiled his best season and also spoiled fun for Aurora juniors.

The navy annexed two sports stalwarts from our midst this week. Charlie Sweeney, coach at St. Andrew's College in both hockey and rugby, accepted a commission and is on his way. Sweeney made good job of things at St. Andrew's and will be sorely missed. Two years ago he coached Aurora juniors but didn't fare so well. He was an outstanding player in his day, being a member of the Varsity seniors, the Swiss international team when on post-graduate work, and of several of Toronto's leading commercial teams.

Bob Benville, boxer, cyclist, sports columnist, badminton and tennis exponent, former Aurora, Marlboro and Woodbridge lacrosse player, left yesterday. He will be in the engineer and mechanical end. Last year he really came to the fore in bike racing, a tribute to his perseverance, and now when he had a chance to reach the top in cycling he parks his beloved wheel for the duration.

Jack Helmka, former Aurora softball and Oakridge hockey, was in town over the weekend looking as large as life. The Garden City agrees with the round John. He has quit active softball competition and is coaching Unions, who are favorites to take senior B honors in St. Kitt's this summer. Last winter he played the odd hockey match in a factory league.

Don Gilkes, one of the district swing kings, joined the army this week and has been assigned to the office staff at Newmarket camp.

Frank Cluhine is out trying for a place on the R.C.A.F. softball team at Jarvis. These lads last year won the district league around Simcoe, so Hankus-Pankus will have to go all out for a place on the team. Like Helmka, after several years of inaction, he tried his hand at a bit of hockey but found "the old grey mare" ditty was a theme song.

Whoops and hold everything, the Sutton boys are cutting loose tomorrow night with a big spread for their championship hockey team and you can sing again "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight."

Charlie Malloy is carrying on as proxy of the Aurora lawn bowlers, who are busy considering ways and means of stirring up a little more interest in the club. A few more players would help things out considerably and this is one year that they should be a cinch to get.

Aurora Cycling club boys are loosening up these nights and Jimmy Hanson, Bill Heath and other youngsters are said to be showing improved form. Only fly in the ointment is that there may be few meets this year. Bikes are at a premium now too, so the lads are a bit more careful about their spills.

The Fresh Frosh

A college freshman was being severely criticized by his professor. "Your work should be as good as mine," said the professor. "Your last paper was very difficult to read," said the professor. "What part didn't you get?"

Is Your Liver Poisoning You?

Are you sick and tired out every morning—always constipated—can't eat without pain and distress? Your liver is poisoning your system—permanent ill health may be the result!

• Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headache, backache, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease. Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-Lives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-Lives" are Canada's largest-selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-Lives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

"It does 12, Always Fine Now!" Since I was twelve I suffered from constipation and never felt well. I started taking "Fruit-Lives" and I can truly say they gave me wonderful relief. Every one should try "Fruit-Lives" and enjoy life as I do now. I have never been sick for years. Mrs. Florence Williamson, Montreal, Que.

"Run Down For Years, Was Poisoned Health!" I was badly run down and terribly nervous. My digestion was poor and I was always constipated. "Fruit-Lives" soon made me better and there is nothing like it for making you well and giving you new pep and energy. After years of bad health, "Fruit-Lives" made me feel fine. Mr. Roy Degeneau, Chatham, Ont.

"THE HOARDER"

PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1

People who buy more of anything than they currently need, and merchants who encourage them to do so, are sabotaging the war effort and are therefore public enemies.

Loyal citizens do not hoard. They buy only for their immediate needs. They cheerfully adjust their standard of living, realizing that their country's needs must come first. They do not try to gain unfair advantages over their neighbours.

Are you a hoarder or a loyal citizen? Are you hampering Canada's war effort by unnecessary buying? Or are you co-operating to the best of your ability to save Canada from such horrors as Hong Kong?

If Canadians do their duty, there will be no more hoarding. Everyone will get a fair share of the goods available. More food can be sent to Great Britain. More raw materials—more manpower—will be available for making guns, tanks, planes and other armaments to back up our armed forces.

In cases where it is advisable for you to buy in advance of your immediate requirements—such as your next season's coal supply—you will be encouraged to do so by direct statement from responsible officials.

KESWICK SIXTY PERCENT OF VOTERS USE BALLOT

One Keswick voter must have been enthusiastically in the affirmative mood on Monday.
 During the slow dragging hours of the early afternoon, when voters were coming at the rate of one in 15 minutes, a Keswick business man had his sympathies played upon by the officials.
 They pleaded weariness and hunger and enquired if the business man would not like to provide them with some refreshment. He answered "yes" by returning with two bricks of ice cream, which didn't last long when two deputy returning officers, two poll clerks and one constable got busy. Voters who came later were given glowing accounts of the business man's generosity, but it was in vain,
 for they confined their affirmative answers to the ballot papers.

About 60 percent of the voters marked ballots at Keswick school on Monday. This was not a very good showing in subdivisions where it is not uncommon for a large percentage of the voters to use their ballots.
 Miss Joan Peel was in charge of the young people's program at Keswick United church on Monday evening. Misses Ruth Reddit, Mary Jean Marritt and Patti Connell, and Walter Walker assisted. The information gathering game created a little excitement, especially for the lady who thought she was being asked her age instead of the date of her birth. Among other pieces of information, the young people discovered that Keswick has 32 street lights.
 Next Monday evening the young people, with Ravenshoe
 Union, are visiting Pickering college to play volleyball and to see the building.

Colonel the Rev. George O.
 Falls, C.B.E., D.D., minister of Trinity United church, Toronto, and senior chaplain for military district two, will preach in Kes-wick United church on Sunday evening.
 Col. Falls was commanding officer of the corps of Canadian chaplains in the great war, after which he was a minister in Vancouver, before coming to Toronto.
 The first Sunday in May is "Rural Life" Sunday throughout the United church and exchanges are made between city and rural ministers.

Rev. Gordon Lapp will preach in Trinity church, Toronto, on Sunday evening, but will conduct the morning service at Keswick as usual.
 The second Sunday of May,
 Mother's Day, will be marked by the celebration of the sacrament of baptism at the United church.

 their children for baptism are

UNION STREET UNION ST. INSTITUTE MARKS 1ST BIRTHDAY

The May meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. D. Beckett, on Thursday, May 7, at 2 p.m.
 This is the first birthday of this organization and a birthday cake is being made for this occasion.
 The roll-call will be an exchange of perennials or plant slips. The topic will be "Agriculture."
 The program committee is Mrs. S. Graves, Mrs. G. Cole and Mrs. E. Burgess. The refreshment committee is Mrs.
 Pat. Murphy and Miss Violet
 Micks.
 The meetings are held the first Thursday of each month and all ladies are invited to attend.

Roche's Point

During the spring and summer months the Christ church hours of services will be: Sunday-school in the parish hall at 10 a.m., morning prayer in the church at 11 a.m. These services will continue until further notice.

A social will be held in the parish hall on Friday evening, when a colored movie, with music, will be given. The main film will be a trip through Alaska. The social is under the auspices of the W.A. of Christ church and will be the closing one of the season. A silver collection will be taken.

HOLT Plunkett Dinner Nets $30, Goes To War Work

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson of Pickering spent the weekend with relatives at Holt.
 The Plunkett dinner held in the hall last Wednesday evening was a real success. About $30 was realized after expenses were paid, which will be used for war work.
 Mr. and Mrs. Harry Draper and baby, of Sarnia, were weekend visitors of Rev. and Mrs. N. F. Perry.
 Mrs. Gordon Morris of Toronto spent a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Ineson, last week.
 Sympathy is extended to Mr.
 Frank Cunningham in the loss of his brother, Norman, of Michigan.
 A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Cupples on Friday for Mrs.
 Percy Coates, nee Evelyn Thompson. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts.
 Last Saturday evening a shower was given for Miss Doris Wilson at her home. She was a bride of this week.
 Congratulations are being extended to Helen Mainprize, Vera Coates and Audrey Wilson, who were successful in passing their entrance on their year's work.
 Much credit is due Miss Westcott. This is her first year teaching.

MOVIES

Canada's heroes of the air, flying heading to victory, are the heroes, too, of "Captains of the Clouds," the picture which will be the new screen fare at the Strand theatre, starting on Monday. James Cagney stars at the head of a cast which includes Brenda Marshall,
 Dennis Morgan, George Tobias, Alan Hale, Reginald Gardiner and Reginald Denny, as well as many actual members of the R.C.A.F.
 The story of "Captains of the Clouds" deals with a group of pilots who make a difficult and dangerous living picking up freight and passenger jobs in Canada's northern woods and lake country.
 Immersed in their own romantic,
 financial and personal problems,
 they pay little heed to the war
 until one day they hear Winston Churchill's "we shall never surrender" speech. With one accord they go to the nearest air field to enlist. They are somewhat chagrined to learn that they are considered too old to be fighting pilots, that the air force can use them only as teachers. Used to flying "by the seat of their pants," they find the rules and regulations trying, and Cagney, a rugged indi-vidualist, is finally put out of the service because his disregard of rules causes a near-casualty. At last, however, using the papers of one of his pals who has done his last power dive, he gets the chance he has dreamed of—to fly a bomber to England. On the way over, the unarmed squadron is attacked by a lethal Messerschmitt, and in one final and magnificent act of courage, he wings his way to glory.
 Most moviegoers may fail to recognize him, but Canada's world-famous "Billy" Bishop, V.C., who shot down 72 German planes in World War I plays himself in "Captains of the Clouds." He appears in his full dress uniform as air marshal of Canada and makes a fighting speech to a group of pilots. Author of the speech was none other than "Billy"

 Bishop himself.

Your "Priorities"

To war industries, the Government has granted priorities—prior claims on essential materials—to ensure the steady flow of these materials needed to win the war.... Similarly, millions of Canadians have established "priorities" through life insurance—to safeguard their families against the uncertainties of the future—and to guarantee them a steady flow of food, clothing and other necessities.... Every working day, more than half a million dollars are distributed among Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries —sustaining families bereft of their breadwinners—bringing security to those in the sunset of life....
 In addition, life insurance has invested more than 300 Million Dollars in War Loans to help finance the cost of men and armaments required in the defence of our homeland.

It is good citizenship to own Life Insurance

MOUNT ALBERT Rural Women Report On Winter War Work

A pot-luck supper was held by the Centre Rd. and Franklin ladies' group, No. 3, at the home of Mrs. Amos Smith on April 16. Proceeds were $15.53. A draw was made on a hand-hooked rug, which brought $28.50. Mrs. Elma Rose of St. Catharines was holder of the lucky ticket.

Meetings have been held at the homes of Mrs. Russell Harrison, Mrs. Geo. Hammett and Mrs. Jas. McDonald.

Mrs. Amos Smith, convenor of the group, was grateful to the ladies who opened their homes for this work and to all the ladies for their generous help and donations. They would welcome anyone who wishes to help in the group in any way.

Members of this group, who have been doing war work, are: Mrs. George Scott, Mrs. Walter Case, Mrs. Russell Harrison, Mrs. Bruce Lapp, Mrs. Roe Crone, Mrs. Merton Toole, Mrs.

Jas. McDonald, Mrs. Harold Rose, Mrs. Jagger Oldham, Mrs. Robert Mitchell, Mrs. Fred Hill, Mrs. Beverly Sinclair, Mrs. G. Mereweather, Mrs. Amos Smith, Mrs. George Hammett, Mrs. James Murphy, Mrs. James Hammett and Mrs. R. V. Wilson.

The group has made its report for January, February and March.

The following articles were sent to the Red Cross unit at Mount Albert: four large quilts, one crib quilt and several knitted articles.

Articles sent to the Salvation Army were: two large quilts, five crib quilts, seven pairs of felt slippers, one baby's layette of 45 pieces. All these, including the baby's layette and the quilt tops, were donated by ladies of the group.

Proceeds of a supper held in December was $16. Of this $10 was sent to a Santa Claus fund and $5 to the Russian Medical Relief fund.

Mrs. Jas. Rolling was taken to the Toronto General Hospital this week for treatment for diabetes. Mrs. B. Stiver was taken to York county hospital this week for observation and x-ray.

Mrs. Cressy and Katherine, of Sudbury, have been guests of Mrs. Cressy's friend, Mrs. H. Kurtz.

A number from here attended the funeral on Monday at Aurora of the late Walter F. Evans, an old Mount Albert boy, youngest son of the late Sarah Jane Johnston and Thomas Evans, and brother of Hugh and Jack Evans of Scott township, Mrs. N. Rogers of Toronto and Mrs. W. Rosamond of Newmarket.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and family spent Sunday at their cottage on Lake Simcoe.

Mrs. J. Moore, who is at present staying in Toronto, was in town for a few days last week.

Rev. R. V. Wilson attended the Toronto East Presbyterian meeting of the United church on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Gordon Wagg of Belleville spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wagg. Mrs. Wagg, Jimmie and Linda, returned home with him after spending several weeks in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid and children of Toronto spent the weekend with Mrs. Reid's father, Mr. Jas. Slorach.

A special Mother's Day service will be held at the United church on Sunday, May 10.

The choir of the United church is sponsoring a concert in the church on Friday, May 8. There will be a varied program, including Sol Hicks and his Beauville choir, patriotic numbers, violin selections, humorous recitations and an old-fashioned Seth Parker hour.

Lawn-mowers have commenced work and it is yet only April. Seeding in this locality is progressing nicely but the dust is flying and the country could do with some rain. Fortunately the town streets have been treated with calcium chloride, which helps out.

MOUNT ALBERT AUCTION SALE NETS RED CROSS $275

Mrs. Robt. Wilson has returned home from a visit to relatives in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wilson of New Toronto were in town over the weekend.

Mrs. B. Stiver is quite ill at her home in town.

The next meeting concerning sports' day will be held in the town hall on Monday evening, May 4, when final arrangements for sports' day will be completed.

The Red Cross auction was a grand success. The donations included everything from livestock and machinery to furniture and eatables. The ladies served hot dogs and coffee. It was a lovely warm night and a good crowd gathered to buy, so when the proceeds were counted up the splendid sum of $275 was made for the Red Cross fund.

The quilts on which tickets had been sold were drawn for and went to J. Tilley for first prize, and Mrs. Ada Rolling, second prize. These brought $52.

The committee in charge of the Red Cross auction are very grateful to all those who cooperated and made their sale such a success. It is only by working together that we accomplish anything and so let us keep up the good work to win the war.

Miss Theodora Harrison of Toronto was home with her sister, Miss Eva Harrison, over the weekend.

Horace Morison has moved his family to Omenees, where he has been working for some time. Nick Simpson is moving into the house vacated by Mr. Morison.

Maple Hill

Mr. Pat. Maloney spent the weekend at Chatham visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McAsh.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Milne of Toronto visited at Mr. Robt. Knights' for the weekend.

Miss Helen Kennedy was married to Rev. E. A. McAsh of Chatham, formerly of Maple Hill, last Wednesday afternoon in Maple Hill Baptist church.

Rev. E. A. McAsh will conduct the anniversary services at Maple Hill on Sunday. Services will be at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. There will be special messages in song.

Miss Ida Prosser, who has been in Nova Scotia, is spending a few days at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Prosser.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Woods and family have moved to the property formerly owned by Mrs. Underhill.

Miss Betty Mahoney spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Mahoney.

Miss Beth McAlpine of Toronto was the guest of Miss Betty Mahoney over the weekend.

Mrs. Jos. Hodgins spent last week at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Whitaker.

Ralph Pollard is now in England.

Glenville

Mrs. Elsie Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Dunn and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. B. Sanderson, all of Toronto, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gould.

Mr. Bruce Hill of Clarendon spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. S. Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. George and

PINE ORCHARD PUPILS LEAVE SCHOOL FOR WORK ON FARMS

Miss Margaret Bosworth and Miss Betty Hope are home from high school for farm work.

Edith Shropshire and Jack Sprockton have left school but will get their entrance to high school by working on the land.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Widdfield and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Widdfield on Sunday.

Pine Orchard Community club are holding their annual supper at the Meeting House on Friday.

VIRGINIA COMMUNITY HONORS BRIDE AND GROOM

A large number from here attended the miscellaneous shower in Pefferlaw Community hall last Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grayson, who were recently married.

Mrs. Grayson was formerly Miss Vera Giles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Giles. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the young couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Grayson are leaving Virginia shortly to take up residence in Sutton.

Miss Frances Evans entertained a number of her Sutton friends at a bridge party on Saturday evening.

Mrs. G. Arnold, who has been spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Wesley Lyons, returned to her home last week.

Mr. Wm. Horner has returned home after spending a short holiday with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Lyall, in Cambridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Westlake of Vroomantown visited relatives in this community on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Hadden spent Saturday evening in Beaverton.

EVERSLEY FARMERS USE FINE WEATHER FOR SEEDING

Sunday-school opens next Sunday, May 3, at 10.30 a.m. for the summer, in Eversley church.

Friday is May Day and Arbor Day, and is to be used by Eversley school as a day to collect salvage. The pupils have been busy all season gathering it and at Easter time they disposed of part of their loot. The pupils have proved good salvage collectors and are doing their part in winning the war.

Seeding is under way. The farmers are rushing the work before the rain comes. Then the growth will be wonderful.

Eversley W.M.S. held their Easter thanksgiving meeting at the home of Mrs. Gellatly last Wednesday afternoon. There was a fair representation of members and several visitors.

The program was an Easter one in which most of those present took a part. Short Easter poems were read by several of the ladies. Mrs. Gellatly and Miss A. A. Ferguson contributed readings.

Last Thursday the Goodwins of Toronto visited the Fergusons at "Scots Wha Hae." It was a sort of farewell visit as the Goodwins have bought a farm near Cobourg. Cecil Goodwin has been a fireman for several years. Being a man of great energy, he has wanted to go farming. Cecil, Jr., is ready for lots of varied exercise, while young Jimmie will find plenty of room on a 135-acre farm to throw his ball without throwing it into his neighbors' lot. The Goodwins will step in and start milking cows and feeding pigs as they arrive.

The rubber problem is acute. The government has decided that making rubber from dandelions would be too expensive for all the rubber that could be obtained, and the dandelion season is too short.

But what of the milkweed plant? It is a relative, the correspondent should judge, of the rubber tree and its juice is certainly sticky enough. A plantation of milkweed plants should prove a boon to the beekeepers.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Elmer King, whose mother, Mrs. Fred VanNorman, passed away on April 21.

Miss Ida Prosser, who has been in Nova Scotia, is spending a few days at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Prosser.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Woods and family have moved to the property formerly owned by Mrs. Underhill.

Miss Betty Mahoney spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Mahoney.

Miss Beth McAlpine of Toronto was the guest of Miss Betty Mahoney over the weekend.

Mrs. Jos. Hodgins spent last week at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Whitaker.

Ralph Pollard is now in England.

Mrs. Elsie Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Dunn and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. B. Sanderson, all of Toronto, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gould.

Mr. Bruce Hill of Clarendon spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. S. Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. George and

Keswick

Members and friends of Keswick Christian church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wight (the former Mrs. C. Taylor) to present her with a beautiful chrome-plated sandwich toaster and grill.

Rev. R. V. Serleck and a few sitting remain and the group how much Mrs. Wight would be missed in the church as she was such a willing worker. He then called on Mrs. A. S. Linn to make the presentation. Everyone had a pleasant evening.

Mrs. R. Connell and Mrs. C. Anderson are still ill.

It is expected that the usual Christian church Ladies' Aid supper will be held in May.

AGED SUTTON LADY, MISS JEAN LYALL, DIES

One of Sutton's oldest residents, Miss Jean Lyall, died at her home there yesterday in her 96th year. She had been in frail health for several years.

Mary spent Sunday in Toronto with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. James Keffer and family of New Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Errol Gould and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keffer.

Mr. Robert Doan of Toronto spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Doan. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Poulton and Glenn of Newmarket spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gould.

She is survived by her two daughters, Mrs. Edith Davis, Webb, Newmarket, and Mabel Davis, M.A., in London, England, and by her five sons, Elmer and Harold Davis of Kingston, and Aubrey, Andrew and E. J. Davis, Jr., of Newmarket. She is also survived by 13 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The funeral on Monday was largely attended, and friends of the family from great distances were present at the church.

The pallbearers were grandsons, Kenneth of Perron, Aubrey of Amos, Harold, Jr., of Kingston, Bruce P. of Toronto, and Ghent and Murray of Newmarket.

Sir William Mulock acted as honorary pallbearer.

Floral pieces numbering over 100 were a loving tribute to a great woman.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales and members of the town council attended in a body.

Interment was in Newmarket cemetery.

Tribute to the life of Mrs. Davis was paid by Rev. Dr. A. E. Rannels and Rev. Dr. T. W. Neal, a former Trinity pastor, at a service in Trinity United church on Monday afternoon.

Intimate friends of the family, employees of the Davis Leather Co., and fellow citizens thronged the church.

Trinity Junior choir, under the leadership of Illyd Harris, provided special music, and helped to make the service not one of sadness but of thanksgiving for a fully rounded life of service and devotion.

Dr. Neal, who was the pastor at Trinity from 1906 to 1910, has maintained his friendship with the Davis family, and only a few weeks ago visited Mrs. Davis at her home.

"I remember what an inspiration it was to me when Hon. E. J. Davis and Mrs. Davis and all their family filed into their pew," said Dr. Neal. "Hon. E. J. Davis was well known throughout the province of Ontario. Mrs. Davis was well known throughout North York."

"Many of her friends were prosperous people. They loved her. Many of her friends were humble people. They loved her."

"When the Hon. E. J. Davis was striding through the province of Ontario, conserving the resources of the department of lands and forests, which are still accruing to the province, Margaret Johnston Davis stood with him."

"We in Newmarket have known Mrs. Davis only in her later years. She wasn't a public speaker. She did not care to get up in a meeting and speak. But in her home she was queen. I know, for I have been there on many occasions. She listened while others talked. She was a wonderful woman."

"It was always a happiness to talk with her about the values that last."

"She had a multitude of things for others, and she will live long in the hearts of those who loved her."

"It is a great honor to have such a woman for a mother. She was unspoiled by money or social influence. She was as pure as a little child. A lady always, I never heard her say an unkind word about anybody. She was a loyal friend."

Dr. Neal commented on how fine it was that all the family was able to be present "except two, Mrs. Andrew Davis, in Florida, where she has been all winter, and Miss Mabel Davis, who has been in Halifax doing Red Cross work and is now in England on war work."

Among the hundreds who attended the service at the church were noted Rev. R. R. McMath, Toronto, Senator Duncan Marshall, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. John Rumball, Toronto, Joseph McCulley, Capt. W. D. Muckle, Toronto, Mrs. Wm. Beck, Toronto, George D. Wark, Orillia, Mrs. Roy Shaw, Toronto, Walter Rolling, King, Mrs. T. W. Neal, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. S. Cane, Toronto, Mrs. F. M. Hacking, Mount Forest, Miss T. G. Since then Sir William has made a practice of memorializing things that appeal to him, and he commended the habit to the students.

Stories of his childhood were Sir William's contribution to the centenary celebration. His earliest memory was of pushing a pole down into a well and watching it bob up. In the village of Bond Head, "I told my mother of this strange phenomenon and she explained to me why the pole bobbed up," Sir William related. "That was my first schooling."

old attending grammar school in Newmarket we went down to the pond to see a curling match. There was a foreign team. We were partisans and anxious to see our team win. The game was almost over. There was one more shot. The enemy was two in. Our skip cut out the two stones. He was our hero.

"The incident passed away from my mind. Sixty years lapsed before it came to my mind again. I was in London, England. There was a great demonstration. I saw the procession go by. A woman came up to me and addressed me by name. I asked, 'Who are you?' 'I lived in Newmarket, used to see you. I married a Londoner. He brought me back to London. That procession passed out of my mind. I was standing on the village pond again witnessing the triumph of our hero.

"The village pond was a favorite resort for frogs, and frogs were favorite food with the people of Newmarket. My mother liked them. I would catch big bullfrogs, and cut their legs off. We would put their legs in water with a lot of salt. You may not believe this, but try it yourself. Sometimes those legs would kick themselves out of the water. Your professor of physics will explain that."

"Is there still a Bogartown pond? The students would rest under the bank. I would lie down on the ground, and put my hand under the bank until I found a tail. Then I would work my hand up to his middle and seize him. It used to be called tickling but there was no tickling to it."

"In my day pigeons came into Canada by millions. There is no congeration about that. Often I'd be awakened by the roaring of the pigeons flying overhead. The Americans organized to clean them out." Sir William told how the hunters used nets to catch the pigeons wholesale.

"Now there isn't a wood pigeon in all the world," sadly commented Sir William.

"We used to play cricket each morning before breakfast," he continued. "I was on the Newmarket team. It was agreed that we should take our dinner all together at the Forsyth hotel. I told my mother. She said that I wasn't good. I was being treated as a baby. I determined that I'd go. My mother missed me. She came to the hotel to look for me. I knew it was all up, and went home with her."

"Go up to your room and prepare yourself for a whipping," she said. It was foolish of her. I could have given her a whipping. I put a pillow on the vulnerable part of my anatomy which I thought she would attack and then I called down that I was ready. When she came up and saw how I had prepared, she burst out laughing and went away."

devoted herself to the welfare of the town, while retaining as far as practical her interest in the community which she had left.

1934, two years before the death of the late Hon. E. J. Davis, she suffered a stroke which left her a semi-invalid. However, she retained her keen mental faculties to the end.

She is survived by her two daughters, Mrs. Edith Davis, Webb, Newmarket, and Mabel Davis, M.A., in London, England, and by her five sons, Elmer and Harold Davis of Kingston, and Aubrey, Andrew and E. J. Davis, Jr., of Newmarket. She is also survived by 13 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The funeral on Monday was largely attended, and friends of the family from great distances were present at the church.

The pallbearers were grandsons, Kenneth of Perron, Aubrey of Amos, Harold, Jr., of Kingston, Bruce P. of Toronto, and Ghent and Murray of Newmarket.

Sir William Mulock acted as honorary pallbearer.

Floral pieces numbering over 100 were a loving tribute to a great woman.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales and members of the town council attended in a body.

Interment was in Newmarket cemetery.

Tribute to the life of Mrs. Davis was paid by Rev. Dr. A. E. Rannels and Rev. Dr. T. W. Neal, a former Trinity pastor, at a service in Trinity United church on Monday afternoon.

Intimate friends of the family, employees of the Davis Leather Co., and fellow citizens thronged the church.

Trinity Junior choir, under the leadership of Illyd Harris, provided special music, and helped to make the service not one of sadness but of thanksgiving for a fully rounded life of service and devotion.

Dr. Neal, who was the pastor at Trinity from 1906 to 1910, has maintained his friendship with the Davis family, and only a few weeks ago visited Mrs. Davis at her home.

"I remember what an inspiration it was to me when Hon. E. J. Davis and Mrs. Davis and all their family filed into their pew," said Dr. Neal. "Hon. E. J. Davis was well known throughout the province of Ontario. Mrs. Davis was well known throughout North York."

"Many of her friends were prosperous people. They loved her. Many of her friends were humble people. They loved her."

"When the Hon. E. J. Davis was striding through the province of Ontario, conserving the resources of the department of lands and forests, which are still accruing to the province, Margaret Johnston Davis stood with him."

"We in Newmarket have known Mrs. Davis only in her later years. She wasn't a public speaker. She did not care to get up in a meeting and speak. But in her home she was queen. I know, for I have been there on many occasions. She listened while others talked. She was a wonderful woman."

"It was always a happiness to talk with her about the values that last."

"It is a great honor to have such a woman for a mother. She was unspoiled by money or social influence. She was as pure as a little child. A lady always, I never heard her say an unkind word about anybody. She was a loyal friend."

Dr. Neal commented on how fine it was that all the family was able to be present "except two, Mrs. Andrew Davis, in Florida, where she has been all winter, and Miss Mabel Davis, who has been in Halifax doing Red Cross work and is now in England on war work."

Among the hundreds who attended the service at the church were noted Rev. R. R. McMath, Toronto, Senator Duncan Marshall, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. John Rumball, Toronto, Joseph McCulley, Capt. W. D. Muckle, Toronto, Mrs. Wm. Beck, Toronto, George D. Wark, Orillia, Mrs. Roy Shaw, Toronto, Walter Rolling, King, Mrs. T. W. Neal, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. S. Cane, Toronto, Mrs. F. M.
